

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of B.A. Criminology
Ist Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Introduction to Criminology CRM:CC-111	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Introduction to Criminology including scope of Criminology, relation with other social science, elements of crime, schools of Criminology, special types of crime, types of criminal and etiology of crime.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students. Unit 1. To make the learners understand the render in-depth knowledge about the foundational Criminology, definition & scope of Criminology and various social & legal definition of crime. To understand the cocept of crime and basic elements of Crime. Unit 2- To make learners understand the principles of Criminology in reference to causation of crime and punishment of crime. Unit 3- To understand the various special types of crime like cyber crime, environmental crime, political crime and so on. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the different types of criminals career and occupational criminal, violent criminals, property offenders and offenders of public morality. Unit 5- To make the learners understand about the. Etiology of crime related with biological, psychological, cultural, home & family factors, social institutions and public agencies of communication.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of B.A. Criminology
IInd Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Criminological and Victimological Theories CRM:CC-211	• This course provides students with an understanding of the issues involved in explaining, defining, and measuring crime. • Additionally, the course focuses on the nature and causes of crime as well as on patterns and trends in criminal activity. • Biological, psychological, and sociological theories are also discussed as explanations of crime and delinquency. • The main objective is to present an overview of the history and theory of victimology. • Analysis of victimization patterns with special emphasis on types of victims and crimes.	• Understand the concept, meaning and historical development of theories. • Give an account on biological, psychological, sociological and critical explanation of criminal behaviour. • Explain the theories of crime and criminal behaviour theories like differential association theory, sub-culture theory, social bond theory and routine activity theory that help to understand the perpetuation of crime and deviant behaviour. • Understand the historical development of victimology, causes and forms of victimization and various key concepts. • Examine various theories pertaining to victimology such as precipitation theory, lifestyle theory, routine activity theory, deviant place theory, structural and social process factors. • Examine the patterns and impact of victimization in natural disaster, conventional crime, communal and caste violence. Also understand victimization of vulnerable population. • Describe cultural victimization, cyber victimization, inter-personal violence and also the impact of crime victimization.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of B.A. Criminology
IIIrd Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Criminal Psychology CRM:CC-311	• The subject attempts to develop an understanding about the interplay of various psychological factors behind the criminality. • Information provided via lecture and the text will provide the student with a broad understanding of the impact that psychology can have on any one individual within the criminal justice system.	• Understand what Criminal Psychology is. • Analyze the Role of Psychology in Criminal Psychology. • Evaluate relation between Psychology, Crime and Criminal Behaviour. • Interpret the psychological, biological, and environmental factors that lead to criminal and anti-social behaviour • Compare the key causes of criminal victimization • Explain the fundamental principles involved in understanding threat
Cyber-crime and Security CRM:SE-312	The objective of this course is to explain the meaning, concept and causes for cyber crime, It also aims to discuss the typology of cyber crime, cyber laws in India, cyber policing and cyber security.	On completion of this course, • The students will be able to describe meaning, nature of cyber crime and its historical development of cyber crime, • Shall be aware of the typology of cyber crime. • Students gain comparative understanding of cyber laws in India, • Able to understand the various cyber security practices in India. • This will also enable students to know about the cyber policing in India.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar
Objectives and Learning Outcomes of B.A. Criminology
IVth Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Penology and Correctional Administration CRM:CC-411	- Describe the history and development of punishment and corrections. - Explain the role of correctional institutions in the administration of justice in India. - This course will introduce the students with the various concepts related with Penology and Correctional administration with specific reference to India. - The students will learn about the various concepts under penology and methods of correction like institutional and non-institutional forms of correctional administration, etc.	Upon successful completion on this course the student will be able to: - Understand the meaning and role of the penology in the overall legal framework. - Understand the various aspects of the correctional system in India. - Compare and contrast the various historical efforts and contemporary trends in corrections as they apply to punishment and reduction of recidivism - Identify ethical issues involved in dealing with offenders in institutional and community settings - Recall, list, and define common terms used in the field of corrections - Demonstrate, describe and accurately prepare a pre-sentence report - Identify, describe and contrast the intermediate punishments used in place of confinement of offenders - Comprehend and evaluate the importance of various recent trends in correctional system like after-care, rehabilitation, etc.
Tourism Crime and Security Management CRM:SE-412	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Introduction to Tourism in India and crime, Tourism policies, safety and security of tourists and Tourism crime prevention measures.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students. Unit 1. To make the learners understand the render indepth knowledge concept and nature of tourism in india, To understand the historical background of tourism and tourist destinations in India. Unit 2- To make learners understand the Tourism and crime, types of crime against tourist and factors contributing to crime against tourist, tourist community and tourist as offender. Unit 3- To understand the provisions of tourism policies, purpose of tourism policies in India. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the theories related with safety and security of tourists. To make understand the impacts of tourists incidents on media behavior, destinations, tourist behaviour and impact on tourist industry. Unit 5- To make the learners understand the specific responses to reduce crime against tourist. To make understand the crime prevention programme for national& international tourists

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of B.A. Criminology
Vth Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Juvenile Delinquency CRM:EC-511	• This course will explore concepts of juvenile delinquency, the impact of the juvenile justice system and society's role in delinquency prevention. • Students will acquire a keen awareness of the concepts of juvenile delinquency, the sociological and developmental views of delinquency, as well as environmental influences. • Selected theories and causes of juvenile delinquency are discussed.	• Understand the definition of child, delinquents, history of the juvenile justice system, types of problem children, etc. • Analyse the characteristics of juvenile delinquents with respect to socioeconomic status, gender and family background and risk factors of recidivism. • Give an account on the classical theories, psychological theories, sociological theories and control theories with respect to juvenile delinquency. • Develop the knowledge about the juvenile justice system in India.
Drug Abuse and De-addiction CRM:SE-513	• This course is designed with the objective to provide students a deep knowledge about drug abuse and harmful effects on human, society and overall life. Also symptoms and cure strategies of the drug addicts was also explained. • Be able to define and discuss drug trafficking. • The areas include - awareness generation, counseling, treatment and rehabilitation of dependents	By the end of this course, a student should be able to: • Describe warning sign, symptoms, and the course of substance use disorders. • Describe the behavioral, psychological, physical health and social effects of psychoactive substances on the person using, and significant others. • Describe factors that increase the likelihood for an individual, community or group to be at-risk for, or resilient to, psychoactive substance use disorders. • Apply basic knowledge of drug laws to evaluate historical legal cases and situations related to substance abuse. • Have an in-depth understanding of key factors in preventative work and substance abuse related public health work • Be able to understand different treatment- and rehabilitation interventions

Victim-Offender Counseling CRM:GE-514	This course is designed to provide a basic understanding of counseling techniques and the relationships with offenders in our society. Major topics to be covered include mental health issues common with victim and offenders, assessment and diagnosis of victims and offenders, role of counselors working with offenders, and current treatment approaches.	• In this part students will gain knowledge to visualise, analyse and study techniques used in contemporary criminal justice and victimization. • Development of critical thinking, ethical decision making, and an understanding of diversity as it pertains to crime, offenders, victims, and the criminal justice system. • Apply theories and models of counseling. • Explain the purpose and form of the conditions of community corrections. • Describe how a juvenile offender is processed through the system
---	---	---

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of B.A. Criminology
VIth Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Police Administration and Forensic Science CRM:EC-612	While studying the Introduction to Police Administration and Forensic Science, the student shall be able: • To trace out the history of policing • To know the recruitment procedures at various levels and cadres • To understand their basic duties and responsibilities • To discuss about the legal knowledge of police and the pressure, autonomy and accountability of police. • To highlight the importance of forensic science for perseverance of the society. • To learn about the general investigation procedures adopted by the police • To understand the documents and methods of investigation • To understand the crime scene	After completion of the Course, the student will be able: • Develop the knowledge regarding the historical development of police system, organization, structure and functions of police. • Assess the special procedures pertaining to the recruitment and training of women police. • Analyses of the various wings of the police force in both the centre and the state. • Understand the importance of the police organisation and structural significance of the police. • Understanding the general investigation procedures in police organization • Learn about the methods and documents used for investigation. • Examine the crime scene associated procedures. • Analyse the nature of the subject and its salient feature in conducting investigation and collection of evidences.
Vigilance and Internal Security Management CRM-SE-613	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Concept of Vigilance, Confidential enquiries, classification of documents, Internal and National security, Governmental non-governmental organization, environmental protection, defence against internal threats, constitutional provisions--its impact on human rights, defence against economic institutions electronic gadgets.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students. Unit 1. To make the learners understand the rene dr indepth knowledge about concept of vigilance, information and intelligence. To understand the confidential enquiries and classification of documents. Unit 2- To make learners understand and recognise various aspects of internal and national security.To understand about the Governmental & non-governmental organization's with problems of internal security management.

		Unit 3- To understand the protection against environment and about the road accident in reference of internal security. To recognise the defence against internal threats particularly caste, communal and political violence and abuse of wealth. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the constitutional provisions--its impact on human rights. To make learners the notion of safeguards against terrorism, naxalism and smuggling. Unit 5- To make the learners understand the defence of economic institutions. To make learners understand about the alarm system, electronic gadgets, fire precautions and precautions against explosives and security of public place.
Feminist Criminology CRM-GE-614	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Introduction to Feminist Criminology, theories of feminism, scope of feminist Criminology, Crimes by the female and crime against the female, Legal provision for female and criminal justice system and pocso Act,2012.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students Unit 1. To make understand the concept and scope of feminist Criminology. To understand the theories of feminism eg. Marxist and psychoanalytical feminism. Unit 2- To make learners understand the crimes by female eg. Pickpocketing, theft, robbery and drug supply. Unit 3- To understand the various crime against female eg. female foeticide, infanticide, kidnapping, abduction and child abuse. To make understand the illicit drug cultivation and the environment. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the crime against female eg. Prostitution, murder, rape, human trafficking and modern crime. Unit 5- To make the learners understand the legal provisions for female as victim and offender and criminal justice system. salient features of pocso Act,2012.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of M.A. Criminology
Ist Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Introduction to Criminology CRM:CC-121	The objective of this course is to introduce the concept and scope of criminology. It will familiarize students with nature of crime, crime trends in India and abroad and its effects as well its prevention. The course aims to discuss the concept of social disorganization and crime prevention.	The course will demonstrate to students: • Able to describe the basic concept, meaning, definition of criminology: Social, psychological and legal approaches, nature & scope of criminology • Able to the understand the nature of crime, significance and development of criminology, • Familiar with the Social change, social deviance and social disorganization. • Understand the crime trends in India and Abroad. • They will able to explain the contemporary crime prevention strategies.
Victimology CRM:CC-122	While studying the Victimology, the student shall be able: • Explain the need for victimology both theoretically and practically. • Analyze the characteristics and factors that correlate with victimization. • Describe the theories of victimization. • Evaluate what the criminal justice system is doing (or not doing) for crime victims.	• Understand the historical development of victimology, causes and forms of victimization and various key concepts. • Examine various theories pertaining to victimology such as precipitation theory, lifestyle theory, routine activity theory, deviant place theory, structural and social process factors. • Examine the patterns and impact of victimization in natural disaster, conventional crime, communal and caste violence. Also understand victimization of vulnerable population. • Describe cultural victimization, cyber victimization, inter-personal violence and also the impact of crime victimization. • Exhibit the impact of national and international organizations dealing with victim compensation, victim assistance and disaster management.
Forensic Aid to Criminal Justice	While studying Criminal Justice System and Forensic Science, the	On successful completion of the course students will be able to:

system CRM:CC-123	student shall be able: Provide students with a learning experience that will help instill deep interest in the Criminal Justice System. Develop broad, balanced knowledge and understanding of key Criminal Justice System concepts, and equip students with the appropriate tools of analysis of forensic science to tackle problems in the field.	• Explain the purpose of comparative and international criminal justice system. • Understand the concept and purpose of criminal justice system, the developmental process over the years according to the needs of the society. • Develop the knowledge regarding the historical development of police system, organization, structure and functions of police. • Explain the basic principles and stages involved in crime scene reconstruction. • Identify and process the common steps taken during a scene search. • Explain the significance of evidence, types and classification of physical evidences such as blood, fibre, paint, firearms, fingerprints, etc. • Explain the salient features of the Indian judicial system, its functions, structure and powers of the court. • Develop knowledge about the historical development, organisation of the prison system and also regarding the objectives of imprisonment, prison statistics etc.
Research Methods in Criminology CRM:CC-124	• This is an introductory course in research methodology in Criminology and the Social Sciences. • Topics addressed include: origin of research questions; qualitative and quantitative approaches; deductive and inductive approaches including theory, hypothesis testing and causality; sampling; and ethical issues in research. • Using an inter-disciplinary approach, course materials will focus on research in criminology and criminal justice. • Emphasis will be placed on data gathering techniques.	• Describe the characteristics, types and significance of research. • Examine the research problem, research process, review of literature, research questions, etc. • Demonstrate basic concepts of statistics. Understand descriptive and inferential statistics, independent and dependent variables. • Demonstrate computer application skills such as MS Office Word, Power Point, and Excel. • Select an appropriate research design, among qualitative, quantitative and mixed-methods approaches, to explore the answer to a criminal justice or criminological research question. • Interpret the validity, reliability, impact, or usefulness of published criminal justice/criminological research data or conclusions.

Criminal Investigation & Legal Procedure (Practical) CRM:CC-125	This course gives an over view of the cardinal principles and techniques of crime scene investigation, with an emphasis on a rigorous scientific approach. Students will be introduced to: Crime scene documentation, sketches, and photography; Specialized techniques for the recognition and enhancement of physical evidence; Preparation and maintenance of case folders for records including notes, sketches, photographs, and contacts /communications; Communication of results and preparation of formal reports; The primary aim of the course is to introduce students to scientific philosophy, integrity, CSI procedures, and the role of the crime scene investigator.	Upon the successful completion of this course, the student will: • List and explain the interrogatory investigative questions included in police reports, and demonstrate techniques involved in writing and organizing effective reports • Understand information on and evaluation of proper evidence collection procedures, procedures not limited to the collection of physical evidence • Understand information on and evaluation of proper evidence collection procedures, procedures not limited to the collection of physical evidence; • Identify the Importance of descriptive information on the nature and content of criminal investigations Identify specific courts and their jurisdictions.
Research Methods (Practical) CRM:CC-126

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of M.A. Criminology
IInd Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Criminological Theories CRM:CC-221	- Course offers an introduction to criminology as the scientific study of the making of laws, violation of norms, and society's response to law. - Students will also examine the uses and usefulness of the discipline of criminology. - Recognize the causes and consequences of crime at the micro and macro levels and match these with prominent criminological perspectives. - Apply theories of crime and criminal justice to explain actual and hypothetical scenarios, behaviors, and trends.	- Understand the concept, meaning and historical development of theories. - Knowledge Base in Criminology - Students will demonstrate depth of fundamental knowledge and comprehension of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, historical trends, and empirical findings to discuss how criminological principles apply to social phenomena; - Scientific Inquiry and Critical Thinking - Students will demonstrate skills and concepts in interpreting behavior and evaluating research to draw conclusions about criminological phenomena; - Ethical and Social Responsibility in a Diverse World - Students will demonstrate proficiency with the formal regulations that govern professional ethics in criminology and demonstrate that they have adopted the values that will contribute to positive outcomes in personal and professional settings and in building a society responsive to multicultural and global concerns.
Juvenile Delinquency CRM:CC-222	- This course will explore concepts of juvenile delinquency, the impact of the juvenile justice system and society's role in delinquency prevention. - Students will acquire a keen awareness of the concepts of juvenile delinquency, the sociological and developmental views of delinquency, as well as environmental influences. - Selected theories and causes of juvenile delinquency are discussed.	- Understand the definition of child, delinquents, history of the juvenile justice system, types of problem children, etc. - Analyse the characteristics of juvenile delinquents with respect to socioeconomic status, gender and family background and risk factors of recidivism. - Give an account on the classical theories, psychological theories, sociological theories and control theories with respect to juvenile delinquency.

		• Develop the knowledge about the juvenile justice system in India.
Penology and Correctional Administration CRM:CC-223	The objective of this course is to explain the concept of punishment, theories of punishment with their impact. The course also aims to discuss the prison system, legislations and institutionalized and non-institutionalized forms of treatment.	After reading this course, the learner would: • They would be able to understand meaning, forms of punishment, punishment in ancient, medieval and modern times, theories of punishment and new alternative forms of punishment. • Understand the prison system, prison reforms and prison administration. • Able to understand the importance of the prison legislation and prison acts. The students will become acquainted with an institutionalized and Non-institutionalized forms of treatments of the offenders.
Criminal Psychology CRM:CC-224	The main objective of the Criminal Psychology paper is to understand criminal behaviour and to be able to control and modify such behaviour through the different techniques of Psychology.	Upon successful completion of the course, the student will know the following To understand the purpose and scope of Criminal Psychology. To gain the knowledge of development of criminal personality, psychometric tests are used in criminal behavior, the process of profiling criminal personality. To know about the use of psychology in the Criminal Justice System and to understand the reality behind criminality.
Case Study (Practical) CRM:CC-225	The students are supposed to prepare a report file based on field work, case work or case study in a respective specialize case chosen by the students during visits.	This course will equip students to: • Develop skills in studying individual cases while visiting to correctional Institutions, de-addiction centre, women counseling centre/ NGO for a specified duration. • To record day to day event of the specific visit site and • To prepare a detailed report of cases evidence during the visits.
Criminal Psychology (Practical) CRM:CC-226	The main objective of the course is to get knowledge of criminal psychology practically. The Test, Scales, and Inventory are administered practically to the	After studying this paper the students will know the following: To understand the way of administration of practicals to the subjects.

	subjects to know the actual results.	To know about the different types of tests and how to administer to criminals and the victims of crimes to understand the behavior problems. To Learn about the lie-Detector instrument and its pros and cons through the user directly. The suggestions are important to the criminal justice system.
Introduction to Green Criminology CRM-OE-227	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Introduction to Green Criminology including forms of green crime, green crime investigation, environmental law & regulations, environmental justice.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students. Unit 1. To make the learners understand the rene dr indepth knowledge about concept of Green Criminology and various types of green crime. To understand the historical development of Green Crime and Green Criminology. Unit 2- To make learners understand the nature,forms and causes and effects of the Green crime.To make understand environmental theories related with green offenders and victims. Unit 3- To understand the various green crime investigation, environmental investigation Agencies, wildlife crime and trafficking,corporate environmental crime. To make understand the illicit drug cultivation and the environment. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the environmental law and regulations in indian context. To make learners the notion of environmental crime in Indian constitution.. Unit 5- To make the learners understand the national and international law for environmental protection. To make learners understand about the legal provisions for protection against wildlife crime.To make learners understand the prevention & cotrol of green crime and role of NGO's.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of M.A. Criminology
IIIrd Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Internal Security Management CRM:CC-321	The main objective of the course is to understand the systems of Internal Security Management and the different techniques of security to curb crimes.	Upon successful completion of the course, the student will learn the following: To understand the concept of internal security management, and the scope of internal security management. To gain insight into the criminal justice system and internal security, defence against internal threats, surveillance using biometrics, and the safeguards against terrorism, naxalism, smuggling, etc. To understand the security of buildings and public places, precautions against explosives, etc.
Crime Journalism CRM:CC-322	While studying the Crime Journalism, the student shall be able: • Discuss the importance and need of crime journalism • Review various rules to be kept in mind while conducting an investigative story • Discuss various investigative journalists from India and world • Explain techniques of writing investigative journalism stories • Analyse trends and practices of investigative journalism • Explain ethical issues in the practice of crime journalism	On successful completion of the course students will be able to: • Identify different types of media influence, as applied to understanding crime and criminality. • Appreciate the challenges faced by journalists in trying to offer crime reporting that is not sensational. • Understand the role of crime reporting in attracting viewers • To independently devise, plan and implement an investigative journalism work on different topics for different media platforms. • To collect, select, understand and present information on the needs of investigative journalism. • To create an investigative journalism works in accordance with media content and technical requirements and needs. • To use, process, analyse data for the fulfillment of goals of an investigative journalism work. • Responsible, knowledge-based use of technologies in the process of creation of investigative journalism works.
Human Rights & Social Work	The objective of this course is to explain the meaning, nature and scope	• The students will acquire comprehension of nature of human

CRM-EC-323	of human rights, to understand the context of human rights issues in India and imperatives of familiarize social work, social case work and social group work.	rights, human rights issues in India, significance of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights 1948 • This course will familiarize students with understand the context of protection of human rights organizations, commissions and committees. • The emergence of rights based perspective in social work practice and • The students shall be in a position to identify a particular wide range of human rights issues in India.
Cyber Crime and Security CRM-EC-324	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Introduction to cyber crime and cyber security, typology of cyber crime,cyber laws,cyber crime and security and cyber policy.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students. Unit 1. To make the learners understand the concept and historical development of cyber crime. To recognise the types and causes of cyber crimes. Unit 2- To make learners basic understanding of the typology of cyber crime and malicious code. To understand about the credit card frauds and financial frauds, cyber terrorism and cyber pornography. Unit 3- To understand the cyber law in India, Information technology Act (2000),Amended 2008.To understand the cyber law across the globe and digital evidence. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the counter measures for cyber crime and security, information security and email security. To make learners the notion of environmental crime in Indian constitution.. Unit 5- To make the learners understand the cyber policy, cloud based bcrime. To recognise the intellectual property rights and violations, cyber policing in India and social networking site.
Contemporary Forms of Crime CRM-OE-326	The main objective of the course is to gain knowledge of different types of contemporary crimes and understand the measures of prevention and control of the crimes.	Upon successful completion of the course, the student will understand the following: To understand the nature meaning and forms of white collar crimes and economic crimes, organized crimes, terrorism, cybercrime, and environmental crimes. To learn about the root cause of contemporary forms of crimes, and prevention and control strategies.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of M.A. Criminology
IVth Semester

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Criminal Law & Procedure CRM:CC-421	The main objectives of this course is to build a strong foundation in the Criminal Law & Procedure including Criminal justice System, Substantive Criminal Law, Specific Offences of IPC, Classification of Offences, criminal trial issues and evidence law.	Based upon successfully completed of the course by the Students. Unit 1. To make the learners understand the basic principles govern Criminal Law and procedure. To understand the evolution of criminal law and about the basic elements of crime along with different criminal liabilities. To understand the scheme of the chapter of General exception in Indian Penal Code. Unit 2- To make learners understand the criminal law as specific offences like homicide, sexual offences and offences against property alongwith. Unit 3- To understand the various classification of offences under criminal procedure code. Unit 4 - To make learners understand the issues related with criminal trial, role of Police, prosecution and courts in criminal proceedings. Unit 5- To make the learners understand the scope and relevance of evidence law.
Project CRM-EC-425	A student will submit a project report on the basis of criminological/victimological perspective of empirical studies in a specialize field chosen by the student in consultation with their supervisor. Two hard copies of the project/dissertation to be submitted by the student for its evaluation by before the viva-voce examination.	By the end of the course, students will be able to learn the following: • To learn about field work techniques, • To understand pilot survey relevance, • To conduct primary data collection for a specific topic in one specific field, • To teach various analysis techniques and finally to prepare report on the basis of data and analysis undertaken.

Department of Criminology & Forensic Science
Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar

Objectives and Learning Outcomes of Ph.D. Criminology

Paper Name and Code	Course Objectives	Course Outcomes
Research Methodology CRM -CC-141	The main objective of the course is to get knowledge of research methods in criminology and the importance of research in the criminal justice system.	Upon successful completion of the course, the Research Scholar: To understand the purpose of research and problem formulation, research design, and preparation of Interview Schedule about the scales and sampling methods. To understand the data processing methods in Excel and SPSS software and get the knowledge of data analysis, and use of statistics in criminological research.
Research Trends in Criminology and Criminal Justice CRM -CC-142	In this course students will find insightful discussions about the concept of crime, crimes as per Indian Penal Code and Act. This course gives detailed explanations about fundamental criminology and its theories. The course also aims in providing the students with a comprehensive research in criminology and criminal justice system.	After pursuing the course, • The learner would understand the traditions and approaches of criminological theory • The course will familiarize the students with existing crime as per Indian Penal Code and Special and Local Laws. • It enables the student to have a grasp over the Biological theories, Psycho-analytical theory, Radical theories and New Criminology. • The course equips student to understand the different perspectives in research trend in criminology and criminal justice.
Research and publication ethics CRM-CC-144	The main objective of the course is to understand the philosophy and ethics of publication in research work.	Upon successful completion of the course, the Research Scholar: To gain insight on scientific misconduct of publication. To attain the knowledge of publication misconduct and violation of publication ethics and also the meaning of open access publications etc. To get knowledge of software tools, databases, and research metrics.
Research Trends in Victimology CRM -EC-141	The course is aims to provide deep understanding of the concept of victim, victims of crime, victim offender relationship, and victim typology. The course will further familiarize the	After studying this course • The students will have an in depth understanding of concept of victim, victim typology and victim offender relationship.

	students with theories of victimology, victim compensations and research trend in victimology.	• To understand the victim impact such as physical and financial, impact on family, psychological stress and trauma. • It provides students with a theoretically underpinned analytical perspective on victimological theories. • To explore the different victims' assistance schemes in criminal justice system in India • Also this course will enable students to better appreciate the most exciting contemporary research trends in victimology.
--	---	---